Heartache as baby's grave is vandalised

A HEARTBROKEN mother has been unable to sleep or eat after vandals trashed the grave of her baby son.

Melanie Morris, from Haverhill, is pleading for the return of photographs of her son Jaydon and other mementos that were stolen during the desecration of the grave.

Sitting at home on Saturday evening with her other three boys, Melanie was checking Facebook when she noticed a post saying someone had damaged a baby's grave at Haverhill Cemetery.

Instantly, Melanie recognised the grave as her little boy's 'bed' that had been lovingly decorated with pictures, cherubs and other ornaments, only now it was smashed up and filthy.

She said: "This has broken me. I haven't eaten or slept.

"It's absolutely disgusting. I don't know what to do. It feels like I've lost him all over again.

"I ran up to the grave at 11.45pm, I drove down there and got into the cemetery and I just knew something was wrong, all his lights were out.

"All the solar powered lights were out. He had never been in darkness before.

"It was just a mess, there were several items missing, my sentimental stuff, like pictures

TRIBUTE

Tragic A1307 couple 'joined now at rest'

REMEMBERED: Reginald and Maria Towers, who died in a crash on the A1307

TOM PILGRIM

@TomPilgrimCN

THE grandson of an elderly couple killed in a tragic road accident has said his grandparents will forever be in his family's thoughts.

Reginald and Maria Towers, aged 75 and 71 respectively, of Palmers Close, Linton, died after their car spun out of control across the A1307 in Park Hill, Horseheath, and into oncoming traffic on January 9.

Last week, a coroner concluded a "momentary lapse of concentration" led to the collision and the couple died of multiple injuries. They had been married for 50 years.

Aaron Law, 29, from Newmarket, said his family drew comfort from knowing the grandparents were "joined at rest".

He told the News: "The heart-rending and most tragic of events that led to the death of my grandparents will forever remain within our thoughts."

"Both Nan and Grandad were very much loved by all of the family and by members of their community."

"As our family continue the painful process of which we grieve, we also take great comfort in knowing that they are joined now at rest, together."

"The A1307 will bring great sorrow as we continue our daily lives and we hope that released details relating to the accident will remind all road users to remain vigilant at all times."

"On behalf of myself and my family I would like to express our sincerest of gratitude for the efforts of all NHS personnel, the East Anglian
Air Ambulance and Chris-Rowley Smith, Family Liaison Office, Cambridgeshire."

Closing the inquest last week the coroner offered his condolences to the couple's family.

He said: "It's a deeply tragic situation. I deal with a lot of accidents [with] that momentary lapse of concentration."

POLICE

Do you fit the bill as a detective constable?

HAVE you got what it takes to be a detective constable?

Usually, when taking up the position of detective constable, the ideal candidate will have joined the police force as a uniformed police officer, working their way up the ranks.

Now, Suffolk Constabulary have launched a new initiative for those who want to join the police service as a detective constable, without having to climb up the job ladder to secure the position.
Within six months of working alongside fellow detectives,
the successful applicant
could have worked their way up to the detective position in record time.

The force are now accepting applications in Newmarket and Haverhill, as well as across the entire Suffolk region, to take on this opportunity. And even better yet - no experience is required. However, personal experience, aptitude and other professional qualities will be assessed.

The selection process will involve a written application and a visit to the assessment centre. This will be followed by an exercise designed to test decision making,
observation and report writing. Applicants successful at the final interview will undergo a medical assessment, fitness test and security check before a job offer will be made.

In addition to this, a diploma and two-year
probation period must be completed through work-based activity and assessment.

Anyone interested in the position can find out more by attending an open evening at 6pm on Thursday, July 20, at the Assembly Hall,
Suffolk Constabulary Police
Headquarters, Martlesham
Heath, Ipswich, IP5 3QS. You don't need to book, just turn up on the day.

To apply for this position, go to the Suffolk
Constabulary website before
Friday, August 4.

IN LOVING MEMORY: Momentos at the grave of baby Jaydon Morris before the attack

Vandals target baby's grave

■ From page One

of me holding him when he was born and a little box full of charms.

"There was also a substantial amount of damage caused, including smashed photo frames, rubbish tipped on the grave and mud smeared across what was left. Windmills adorning his grave were yanked out."

Among the pictures stolen were pictures of Melanie and Jaydon together as well as a collage of scan pictures from each of Melanie's pregnancies that her mum put together to make sure Melanie had a picture of all four children together.

Pleading to the thieves, Melanie said: "I want my son back. I'm so devastated."

"If you have a heart I want his stuff back. Just leave it somewhere so it can be found."

Melanie visits Jaydon's grave every other day and has done so since he was stillborn nearly 11 years ago in 2006.

RACHEL

@rach_mc9CN

Since Jaydon's death, Melanie has struggled to come to terms with her loss, suffering from depression, anxiety and trouble eating and sleeping.

This is not the first time that Jaydon's grave has been targeted: in the last 10 years thieves have stolen items four times.

"It's been done three times before now, since he's been there, but not to this extent. Before, they've smashed the windmills and a few things were nicked, but it seems much worse this time."

Hundreds of people have signed a petition set up by Margaret Whymark, whose parents' graves have also been vandalised in the past, to try and force St Edmundsbury Borough Council to install CCTV and motion sensors to make the cemetery safer.

Melanie said: "I want something to protect him and everyone's loved ones. They're supposed to be able to rest in peace and for it to be a safe place."

Police are appealing for witnesses and information. Anyone who knows should call Suffolk Police on 101, quoting reference CAD 589 of July 8.

A spokesperson from St Edmundsbury Borough Council, who manage the cemetery, said: "Any vandalism or interference at a gravestone is sickening and Ms Morris has our utmost sympathy. Our staff on site have not had any direct contact from Ms Morris nor have we had report of incidents of any recent vandalism at the site from the police. Any consideration of CCTV has to balance an individual's right to privacy in an area where they need to be allowed to mourn, against any ongoing issues and cost."

"In order to fully understand what has happened, we would urge Ms Morris to get in contact with our cemeteries manager Sue MacDonald on 01284 757680."

EMERGENCY

Ambulance in early morning collision with traffic lights

EMERGENCY STOP: The ambulance after colliding with the traffic signals

AN ambulance has been involved in an early morning crash with a set of traffic lights in Linton.

A photograph of the incident shows the vehicle crashed head-on into the traffic signals.

The traffic lights' pole appears to have sliced through the left hand side of the ambulance's bonnet, right up to the bottom edge of its windscreen.

The incident was reported to have taken place at around 2am last Thursday, in Cambridge Road, Linton.

A spokesman for the East of England Ambulance Service confirmed that it was alerted to reports of a road traffic collision involving one of its ambulances.

He said: "We dispatched an ambulance officer and ambulance crew to assist, who assessed both crew members for minor injuries before taking them to Addenbrooke's Hospital for further care."

First phase of major new homes development is granted approval

TOM PILGRIM

@TomPilgrimCN

APPROVAL for the first phase of thousands of new homes to the north west of Haverhill has been granted by councillors.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Development and Control Committee voted in favour of further planning permission for an initial 200 new homes at Anne Sucklings Lane, Little Wratting, last Thursday.

The reserved matters approval follows the granting of outline planning permission in February, with construction conditions placed on developer Persimmon Homes.

The company has committed to spending around £9.8 million of section 106 funds on local primary and secondary education, a nursery, public transport, cemeteries and other amenities.

Overall the North West Haverhill development will see up to 1,150 homes built in phases on the edge of Haverhill.

The plans have proved controversial with residents concerned

PLANS: The North West Haverhill development at Anne Sucklings Lane, Little Wratting Picture: Persimmon Homes

over the impact of increased traffic levels on the area.

Julie Goodwin, whose property backs on to the development, previously told the News: "Getting out of Anne Suckling Road most times is a nightmare, I'm concerned the relief road is not going to be built for five years. Construction traffic will make traffic worse for each phase."

Persimmon is legally obliged to build a supporting relief road for the development and has set aside a £7.8 million bond to cover its construction.

The road must be finished within five years of the start of the development or when the 500th home occupation is complete.

Councillors urged developers to press ahead with building the relief road as soon as possible.

Cllr David Roach said: "I want to urge the developers to crack on with the relief road, it is vital. If we can deliver that quickly that will tackle a lot of the concerns we have around the development."

"For the good of all the residents the relief road is vital, if they've allocated the money to it anyway, I would like to see it come forward quickly."

Cllr John Burns added: "I've been going about this for donkey's years. It's been on the plans for 45 years. We should have built it and we haven't."

The development's case officer, Penny Mills, described to councillors improvements made to plans for the site. This includes better quality open spaces and landscaping, helping biodiversity, and improved access for pedestrians and cyclists.

Councillors were asked to simultaneously approve the building of a second access point via a roundabout on Haverhill Road.

Several councillors welcomed the addition of a central green space to the plans. They criticised proposals to run an access route through the centre of the site because of visibility concerns around the Haverhill Road roundabout.

Both the phase one reserved matters and new access point applications were approved by the committee in a vote.

TURNED DOWN: Westbourne Court in Haverhill

Objection to flats over fire escape concerns

HAVERHILL Town Council has objected to plans to build 36 flats at Westbourne Court, after fire escape arrangements for some flats were deemed inadequate.

The decision to object to Havebury Housing Association's application was made last Tuesday by the Town Council's planning committee.

Town clerk Colin Poole said: "Generally speaking we are actually very happy with the plans and think it is a good proposal.

"But we decided to object because we are concerned about the fire escape arrangements for the flats.

"They are not a satisfactory form of escape whatsoever, particularly as they would mean elderly people would have to climb out of a window in the event of a fire.

"We appreciate this is a building regulation matter, but in the light of recent events we think the building's fire escapes should be readdressed.

"It would be foolish not to comment strongly on the unsatisfactory fire escape arrangements."

The problem lies in three flats in particular – number 3, 10, and 31.

JASMINE WATKISS
@Jasmine_Watkiss

Bedrooms in all three flats are accessed through the living area, and if a fire broke out, people sleeping in the bedrooms of one of these flats would have to pass through or near to "high fire risk" rooms such as the kitchen in order to escape.

Although emergency escape windows could be installed in the bedrooms, this may be of concern within the first floor flat – and could be even more difficult for elderly or vulnerable residents.

In flat 31, the bedrooms have roof lights, but these are only for lighting and ventilation and wouldn't open to allow somebody to climb out on to the roof.

This means people could only escape from the bedrooms through the flat's open plan kitchen-living-dining room – the most likely location for a fire.

Mr Poole added: "We are quite sure Havebury Housing Association [the applicant] will have begun revising the design straight away.

"We don't actually make planning decisions – they are made by the borough council, and we give our opinion as a statutory.

"We sincerely hope the borough planning committee will listen hard to the concerns of local people."

West Suffolk Borough Council's Public Health and Housing share the concerns about the fire escape provisions.

In an official comment on the planning application, the organisation said they are "concerned with regard to the proposed layout of some of the flats in respect of the means of escape from the bedrooms in the event of a fire".

They recommend "further consideration is given by the applicant to the layout of flats 3, 10 and 31 so as to ensure that bedroom accommodation is accessed without the need to pass through rooms which present a high fire risk".

The application is due to be discussed by West Suffolk Borough Council's planning committee in the coming weeks.

For more information on the planning application, visit the West Suffolk planning website and click on 'view or comment on planning applications'.

Embracing life in 'Chaverhill'

AS a relative newcomer – 23 years – may I say how much I like Haverhill? ('Is this really the 'chav capital' of Great Britain?' News, July 5)

It is a nice market town, lacking some facilities, yes; with a few problems, yes; but nice nevertheless. It pains me to hear some denizens refer to it as Haverhole.

One has to admit, however, that we do have our own subspecies of chav, a type not found elsewhere.

Hence I refer to my adopted town as Chaverhill, in an affectionate way.

I think we should embrace this and find a way to capitalise on it, after all there is a lot to be earned from chaviness – Kim Kardashian, Big Bruvva, Towie – and perhaps this could pour some well-needed money into the town.

In the meantime, I am sure a whole raft of researchers could be employed documenting this rare subspecies of chav, cataloguing, identifying the genus and taxonomic grouping and, as a sideline, identify exactly what research is performed at the town's research park.

Perish the thought that it was a cunning ploy to build more housing.

This in itself will introduce a whole new level of academic excellence and rigour to the town. Indeed what about a Haverhill Chav day to publicise the contributions chavs make to our daily lives?

I remain sir, a devoted Chaverhillian.

Dennis Richards
Moneypence Close
Chaverhill

Town is not a chav centre

HAVING just read your feature regarding ignorant people citing Haverhill a 'chav town' (News, July 6), I would like to say how happy my husband and I are having just moved to the town.

We have only lived here for four months but have found the people friendly with a generous spirit and, in the main, the town is clean and shopping facilities adequate.

We have lovely neighbours who speak to us regularly and are happy and content in our new home.

Looking forward to the 'big bash' next weekend and the other free activities which we have been assured Haverhill offers.

So a big thank you to the townsfolk. Be proud of your town – there are a lot worse out there, believe me.

Term is rather offensive

A RESPONSIBLE journalist would check the source of their stories, so I'm sure you have. In that case why on earth are you giving time to this ridiculous vacuous nonsense ('Is this really the 'chav capital' of Great Britain?', News, July 6)?

Not only that, it's front page

Your view

news. This site is just the opinions of a few disgruntled people and has no contextual basis at all, and any comparisons or rankings are totally meaningless. What's more, please can you define a chav?

This term is actually rather offensive and is always used in a derogatory way. There also a racial connotation as practically always it refers to white (working class) people. What may have started as being fairly jocular has now become more insidious.

I really can not believe that there are not more worthy and serious news items than this, but I suppose that may have taken time and effort to find. There plenty of great things happening in Haverhill, and of course, like everywhere, there are problems and no one would pretend otherwise, but why waste paper and newsprint on legitimising some rubbish that unfortunately pervades the web?

There's a lot to put right

I REFER to the article on the front page of the Haverhill Weekly News, dated July 6, 'Is Haverhill really the 'chav capital' of Britain?'

As my native tongue is English, I did have to look the term up in The Concise Oxford Dictionary and I am still at a loss to know what it means.

I did read into the article and noticed a reference to 'the lard production plant' which to me means only one of two things. Firstly, it could mean the old Haverhill Meat Products plant or, more likely, Haverhill High Street and Queens Street where numerous premises offer an extraordinary selection of 'food' containing excessive amounts of lard (I think it's called fast food).

To add to this, and add to the delight, the number of establishments offering liquid refreshments to reduce any blockage has diminished considerably. I find this staggering considering that any controls and appearances from the boys in blue seem to have disappeared almost to unicorn proportions.

Is this a plan by someone higher up in the world than Haverhill to feed the population cholesterol to kill it off? When vacant premises appear in the town it seems to me they are either taken by such establishments or businesses offering products that are so far down the line that 'tat' becomes a word for quality.

The town now seems to be so far down the line on 'bottom-end' shops that it almost becomes an embarrassment to take visitors into it and so much so I would say that any further development should be along the A1307. This not only reduces their commuter distance – as I suspect very few work in the town – but also allows them less time to visit Cambridge with its great selection of shops offering quality goods.

The downside would be the number of fatalities on the roads, which finishes the argument.

I remember an ex-Haverhill Town councillor telling me that the master plan was to allow for shops to be built near the centre of the town to keep the 'heart' in it, hence Tesco's location. So why are the units being built on the old Project Office Furniture site?

I never understood the argument for building more affordable social pads in a town where 'proper' job numbers are so few.

In a previous working life, I worked in commercial interiors and spoke to commercial estate agents in Cambridge about the Technology Park, or whatever it is supposed to be.

They had four comments. Firstly, technology companies wanted a recognisable international address ie Cambridge. Secondly, most major companies would want to be located next to other similar companies.

Thirdly, why would a major company locate down the A1307 with bottlenecks and fourthly, it's a ruse to get the land changed to social housing after a while?

TRANSPORT

High-level talks discuss new rail link proposal

POPULAR plans to reinstate a rail line from Haverhill to Cambridge have progressed this week after a meeting at Westminster.

Key figures from central and local government met yesterday to discuss the feasibility of building a light rail link from Cambridge to Haverhill.

Matt Hancock, the MP for Haverhill, had a meeting with Cllr James Palmer, Mayor of Cambridgeshire & Peterborough Combined Authorities, MPs such as Heidi Allen and Lucy Frazer, councillors and other interested parties at the House of Commons.

Mr Palmer previously told the News that a feasibility study is under way and that it will report by Christmas on how viable the option is.

Speaking after the meeting, Mr

TARA COX

@TaraCoxCN

Hancock said: "This [plan] is very much at its earliest stages, but there is much enthusiasm from all parties.

"There is clearly a need for a light railway, and there is excellent leadership in Mayor James Palmer.

Both feasibility and funding studies will now be looked at."

Cllr James Palmer said the meeting was held to show solidarity between Suffolk and Essex councils, as well as the combined authority and other MPs.

He added: "It was to give a briefing to those other participants to make sure they understand what we are trying to achieve and that it was something we want to invest in.

"We're looking forward to the feasibility study, which is the next step in this process.

"It is useful to see there is a consensus to see this progress and to see the plans through and see it happen."

Cllr Tony Brown, who is an active member of the Rail Haverhill campaign, said there was "a great need" for light rail.

He added: "I think the business case is definitely there. Haverhill is a good choice for people who work all over the south of Cambridge. It would also benefit the town's businesses.

"Haverhill people have been campaigning for a new railway since 1967 when the original railway closed.

"I know that it took Oxford to

ON THE RIGHT TRACK: Heike Sowa, chairwoman of Rail Haverhill campaign group and inset, Haverhill railway station in 1967 after it closed

Cambridge rail link campaigners 30 years to get results, and they didn't get far until they got their business case together.

"So, we need to run feasibility checks and make sure we have a solid business case.

"We're due to have 3,700 houses built and a potential 10,000 more people in the next 15 years, so we need the light rail to take increased traffic away from the A1307.

"As long as all these MPs, James Palmer and others are supporting the campaign – which we have never really seen before – it is very, very significant."

In a tweet Colin Noble, leader of Suffolk County Council, said the meeting proved a constructive discussion on opportunities to radically improve transport links to the south of Cambridge, including light rail.

Mr Hancock previously said Haverhill would benefit hugely from a railway, adding that the sheer weight of traffic into the town often led to severe tailbacks and many fatal accidents.

Church faces an uncertain future

AN HISTORIC church could close within six months after funds have dried up.

The Old Independent United Reformed Church in Haverhill has been part of the community for over 350 years but despite cost cutting the position of the church has become "financially uncertain".

Plans to sell the church hall in Hamlet Road to raise money to renovate the church have been "postponed indefinitely" and the church as a congregation is at risk of extinction as well as losing the building.

A spokesperson for the church said: "It is a possibility that the current church buildings could be shut entirely. It would then be up to the existing congregation to decide if they want to continue to meet somewhere else."

"Plans to sell the church hall, renovate and reconfigure the current church building, which is Grade II listed, have been postponed indefinitely as the Church's financial position has become serious and can no longer support the proposed project."

The church is now pleading

RACHEL
MC MENEMY
@rach\_mc9CN with members of the public for support to keep the church open.

Running costs for the church and the hall are currently £830 per week.

The congregation are desperate to attract regular hirers for the Church Hall to help with the running of the two buildings.

The church said: "The current fellowship cannot sustain these costs. Without new hirers and more support locally, the congregation will have no option but to decide on their future existence at the site, within a 6 month timescale."

The church's spokesperson added that the church now felt compelled to highlight their critical financial position in a desperate bid to get support.

If you want to help the church you can meet them at their stall at the Haverhill Summer Bash this weekend or contact them on Facebook.

Hair's a way to help children with cancer

HE'S grown it long for a couple of years – so long that some people have mistaken him for a girl.

Now Cambridgeshire schoolboy Ben Brevoort, 11, has had his tresses shorn – to donate the hair to the Little Princess Trust, which creates wigs for children who have lost hair due to cancer treatment.

Ben, who is in Year 6 at Hatton Park School in Longstanton, was given the chop there by fellow pupils on Saturday.

His mum Samantha said: "He was inspired by his best friend Charlotte, who did the same thing a few months ago."

"My husband had cancer – he is fine now – but we have had all the conversations about cancer, and we are big supporters of Cancer Research UK and Macmillan."

"We want to create awareness as what saved my husband was catching it early."

"Ben had grown his hair to over 30cm, so it was clearly time for a haircut, and he was really determined to do this for a good cause."

Driving around town in tanks!

TOM PILGRIM
@TomPilgrimCN

A DEPUTY mayor has revealed his particularly unusual historical hobby – he collects tanks.

Tony Brown, a member of Haverhill Town Council, owns three military vehicles that he likes to drive around town.

His pride and joy is a 1954 Daimler Mark I Ferret armoured scout car that was used to patrol the East German border during the Cold War.

The father of three also owns a 1982 Bedford recovery vehicle and a 1983 8-tonne military flat bed truck that he keeps at a workshop.

Tony, who runs a well drilling business, often uses the vehicles to transport his equipment or to simply take his wife out for a drive.

Last month, he cruised through Haverhill with the town's Mayor perched on top of his Daimler as part of 1940s themed Armed Forces Day celebrations.

"I'm a great fan of history and a fan of engineering and old vehicles," explained Tony. "Always since I was young I had a liking for the Daimler Ferret. There were TV programmes with it on. The engineering was really advanced for the time."

"My brother-in-law has two and is part of a club down in Kent. One came up and I jumped at the chance to get it."

A former Royal Engineer, Tony admits that as his vehicles get older he struggles to find replacement parts and needs to rely on "a bit of ingenuity" to keep them going.

He often turns to the wider community of collectors on Facebook who share tips and spare parts with each other and takes his vehicles to different shows two or three times a year.

Tony added: "It's a pleasure to work on them. The way I look at it, it's a bit of living history. When I take them out it sparks off conversation."

At the recent Armed Forces

Day event Tony even met an ex-servicemen who had driven Daimler Ferrets while serving.

Despite being seen as "mildly eccentric", Tony's family are supportive of his fascination with military vehicles. He said: "I take my wife and sons out in [the Daimler] if it's a nice day. It's quite pleasant. It always raises a smile when people see it on the road."

"It was made, designed and engineered in Britain. A lot of those companies are no longer in use. Some of the stuff we did in the past was absolutely world beating."

SWEET-TOOTHED LUKE BEARDSWORTH VISITS CANADA TO TURN OVER A NEW MAPLE LEAF

YOU have to hand it to the Canadians. They know a sweet treat when they see one. So what's a man to do but take a maple leaf out of their book?

Spending four days in Quebec eating maple syrup sounds like the very definition of a cliché. If, like me, you're in the dark about what you can use maple for, then it seems bizarre – but bear with me.

I was in town to see Nathan Eades, head chef of Michelin-starred Simpsons, and David Colcombe, chef ambassador at We Love Maple, prepare a meal.

And, as you might expect given the starry duo, not just any meal.

The Maple Festival was in full swing and we'd get to see the entire process from the making of maple syrup to the finished meal.

Our first visit was to Délices Érablé & Cie – it translates as Maple Delights, where we tried the four grades of the sweet stuff. They range from golden through to very dark, the latter being my favourite.

The lighter syrup comes from earlier in the season (usually six weeks between February and April) and gradually becomes darker through until the end.

We also tried a soft drink called 1642 Ginger, made with maple syrup in Montreal, that I'd spend the rest of the trip talking about.

Then it was off to Restaurant Europea, rated by TripAdvisor users as second best in the world in 2015.

Both presentation and service were glorious and introduced us to different ways of using maple. Here, it was used to roast the maple seeds and for maple peas. Both subtle uses, a world apart from the syrup you might have with your pancakes.

A chilly walk back to the hotel was in order – be warned, you should take more than just a hooded jacket – before the main event.

Théâtre St-James was the glorious venue for Maple Festival, where Eades and Colcombe had created a menu with British traditions and a maple twist.

The most impressive part was a Coronation Chicken dish I actually wanted to eat. I'm not normally a fan.

It came on a rye cracker and was served alongside a chicken broth with julienne mushrooms marinated in maple vinegar.

Before that we were treated to cubed salmon smoked in maple and served with caviar – and afterwards a take on a Sunday roast.

Not like any Sunday roast you've had, I suspect. It was deer cooked in maple, a game-stuffed cabbage in a maple and cranberry chutney, and some layered celery root.

Canadian staple maple is the name of the game.

"It's been a few years now that maple has been gaining popularity in the UK," says Eades. "People are discovering maple is a lot more than just syrup on their pancakes. I'm proud to have put together a menu that's based in British food tradition, while putting a maple twist on it."

Next day we visited Citadelle, the world's largest producer of pure maple.

SYRUP and take notice

All a-glow in the snow – Quebec City, Montreal

Maple collection

Yves Levesque co-owner of Dansereau Traiteur in Montreal, David Colcombe, chef ambassador for We Love Maple and Nathan Eades, head chef at Michelin-starred Birmingham restaurant Simpsons

Fantastic fresh food at the Jean Talon market in Montreal

Here, we saw behind the scenes how the syrup is stored and bottled once it has been collected from the trees in the first place. Then it was onward to Quebec City.

I loved my time in Montreal but Quebec City was on a completely different level – so beautiful it was breathtaking.

It feels like a village from France has been picked up and dropped into the Saint Lawrence River Valley. It's cobbled, hilly and historic. We spent hours just walking around the place, watched the sunset, taking hundreds of pictures – all despite the fact the temperature was -10°C.

Dinner that night was at Panache

Restaurant in Auberge Saint Antoine. Once again, we saw traditional fine-dining cooking techniques fused with the use of maple. It was impressive, but at that point we'd eaten a lot of brilliantly inventive food and something more homely was required, so we headed out to find a bar.

Pub L'Oncle Antoine was exactly what we were looking for. French onion soup immediately lured us to a stool at the bar and we knew we wouldn't moving for several hours. You could make this pub your local.

The bartender bet she could down a pint faster than us. She could, it was impressive.

Top down: Coronation Chicken served on a crisp rye cracker, dressed with curry cream and mushroom ketchup, served alongside a chicken broth with julienned mushrooms marinated in maple vinegar; Maple-smoked organic wild salmon, cucumber and herring caviar in a horseradish-maple emulsion and loin of Boileau red deer with the aromas of maple, accompanied by game-stuffed cabbage, layered celery root, and maple cranberry chutney

And that soup was every bit as delicious as it smelled.

Next day, after shaking off a hangover, we were off to a sugar shack for more hearty food. There were pies, potatoes, sausages – everything we hadn't really had the chance to eat over the last few days.

We followed that by sledding down a hill. This is the place where the maple sap, extracted from the trees, is boiled down to make the syrup. It's also something of a tourist spot, with plenty of maple products and merchandise.

A trip to the Jean Talon market back in Montreal was on the agenda before we headed for the airport.

It's a gloriously colourful place. We found samosas for a couple of dollars and someone threw me an apple as I walked past.

It felt like an essential part of the community – something we should strive to replicate.

When I got home, it was with a suitcase full of maple products. Maple tea has become something I'll have whenever I need to relax – and I've started using maple sugar in my coffee. I'd also let you name your price for that 1642 Ginger soft drink. There's more to maple than syrup, you just need to give it a try.

If you need a safe and comfortable temporary home for your dog or cat then keep Waterhall Kennels & Cattery in your plans for when you next go away.

Owners Mark and Shirley Stephens understand that boarding your pet can be stressful and are there to help with any requirements you may have regarding boarding, breeding, grooming and training. Both have been involved in the dog world for a number of years and guarantee you great service and knowledge of your dog and cat needs.

Mark opened Waterhall Boarding Kennels in 1988, after some 10 years working experience with gun dogs and taking training classes, and they have since developed into more kennels, whelping rooms and a new cattery.

Meanwhile, in 1993 Shirley went on a grooming course at Bishop Stortford and received a good grounding of most major breeds.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

In 2001 a new custom-built boarding kennel was opened with many exclusive features for boarders. The individual accommodation has a main corridor leading to the bed area and run area while a brand new kitchen provides individual menus and special dietary needs.

A new larger cattery then opened in 2003, increasing the number of cats that can be accommodated, in a building boasting individual rooms for boarders, ramps, a playzone, private bed area, and full insulation and heating to ensure a relaxed stay.

Waterhall comprises 35 fully heated kennels with grass compounds and an exercise programme, with all dietary requirements catered for. If your dog is receiving medication they can administer the medication to them, and if required, accommodation for quarantine dogs can be arranged, eg if your dog is allergic to vaccinations.

They are open 363 days a year and discounts are available for multiple dog bookings. Prices for boarding are £10.80 per day for small dogs, £11.30 for medium and £11.80 for large. All dogs boarding at Waterhall have the option of receiving any of the treatments provided in the grooming room. Waterhall also offers a crèche for dogs, which is ideal as a trial run, or if you have an unexpected appointment that will take you away from home for the day.

Just make an appointment to visit and Mark or Shirley will be happy to show you around and answer any questions that you may have.

Telephone (01440) 762227 or visit their website www.waterhallkennels.co.uk. You can find Waterhall Kennels at Waterhall Farm, Wixoe, Sudbury CO10 8UA.

FOOD &amp; DRINK

It couldn't Bee easier to improve your wellbeing

Sally Bee changed her life-style after suffering five heart attacks. MARION McMULLEN finds out why everyone from Michelle Obama to Lorraine Kelly are fans of her cooking and approach to health

CAKE MY DAY

SUMMER
STRAWBERRY CAKE
(SERVES 12)

INGREDIENTS

Butter for greasing
150g soft butter (or olive oil spread works well)
100g light muscovado sugar
1tsp vanilla extract
2 eggs
200g self raising flour
90g plain flour
150g low fat Greek yogurt
250g fresh or frozen strawberries (thawed if frozen), halved 1tbsp Demerara sugar
Icing sugar, to dust

METHOD

1. Pre-heat the oven to 180°C/fan 160°C/gas 4. Grease a 20cm round springform cake tin and then line with baking paper.

2. Put the soft butter or olive oil spread, muscovado sugar, vanilla extract, eggs, both flours and yoghurt in a large mixing bowl and beat with an electric mixer until the mixture is smooth.

3. Spoon the mixture into the prepared tin, and smooth down.

4. Decorate the top with the strawberries and sprinkle with the Demerara sugar

5. Place in the oven and bake for one hour or until a skewer inserted into the middle of the cake comes out clean.

6. Leave the cake to cool in the tin for 10 minutes, then turn out on to a cake stand or serving plate.

7. Dust the cake with the icing sugar, cut into slices and serve warm.

DOCTORS told Sally Bee's family to say goodbye when a rare heart condition caused her to suffer three heart attacks in a single week.

She was 36, and medical staff warned that it was impossible for her to live with the devastating damage her heart had sustained. But Sally survived and continued to thrive until 12 years later she suffered another two heart attacks. Yet again, her lifestyle, food, thought and movement helped her survive and recover.

Today, she continues to glow with health and says her doctors are amazed by her resilience and believe that her lifestyle is keeping her alive.

The best-selling author and motivational TV chef passes on her life-saving information to others in her new book, Beelicious.

Former First Lady Michelle Obama is one of Sally's biggest fans and bought six copies of her earlier book The Secret Ingredient to give as gifts to her family, and best-seller The Bikini Promise was launched on Lorraine Kelly's ITV daytime show.

Lorraine says: "Sally is living proof that her approach to health and wellbeing really works."

Beelicious offers fad-free seasonal recipes along with personal wellbeing journals and advice from Sally.

The mum-of-three says: "Each of us has the power to shape our future. By eating well, you can support your body and help it to function better and for longer.

"You can protect your body so if and when disaster strikes, you are better placed to survive and recover.

"It's not just about food. It starts with food and includes being aware of your thoughts and attitude to life. "We can all make big plans and reach for the stars, but that can only happen when you deal with the small steps every day and do the best you can."

■ Beelicious - Your Journal To Wellness is published by A Way With Media Ltd, priced £20.

I MAKE an annual trip which I enjoy very much, akin to the old Wakes' Weeks in Lancashire (my roots people, my roots) when once a year half the population would pack up and disappear to Blackpool and paddle and flirt.

My annual trip is a visit to the wine people at the Co-operative when they highlight some of their latest releases.

Here are two reds and two whites all under a tenner; other picks I'll share now and again as the weeks roll on by.

■ Kumala Fairtrade Pinotage Shiraz (£6.99, 12.5% abv): Hot off the press, the Co-op has worked with Kumala to create this new fairtrade pinotage and shiraz blend. The Co-op is the world's biggest Fairtrade wine retailer and sales of the wine will support investment into farming communities in the Western Cape.

RAISE A GLASS

WITH JANE CLARE

What of the wine? Well I need a bit of persuasion with South African pinotage, but this blend is nice; the wine is ruby red, has ripe red fruits and strawberries on the nose, with pepper spice tingling away.

■ Muriel Tempranillo Rioja 2014 (£8.49, 13.5% abv) is a red I loved, with its sweet woody nose, tumbling cherry and strawberry aromas and a good balance of weight, fruit and acidity. It hums of sweet spice and vanilla and is a wine which is confident in itself. It would be proud to look in the mirror and say 'Hey, I'm very elegant'. Look - I write these notes when I'm in the moment. Stick with me.

■ Vanita Grillo 2016 (£6.99, 13% abv) was my favourite white wine - and also that of my guide, wine buyer Ben Cahill. It hails from Sicily and has a tremendous rush of grapefruit and lemon and lime aromas. In the mouth there's a thrill of citrus and acidity from start to finish - the wine has weight, it's not a fly-by-night white which your tastebuds will forget in an instant.

■ Vinho Verde 2016 (£5.99,

9.5% abv): This is a gentle spritzly little thing and as vinho verde goes, it is spritzier than most. These young wines from Portugal aren't made as traditional fizzy wines, but the carbon dioxide created in the fermentation can still be present, causing a wobble of a wobble of a bubble. I won't bore you with geekiness but I'll simply say I'd love to sip this gently sparkling fresh white wine in the garden and enjoy its pretty citrus summer vibe.

■ In other news... I should give a Wimbledon nod to strawberries and fizzy things. If it helps, Sainsbury's tell me they commissioned a flavour expert to reveal the best drinks pairings for top strawberry varieties.

Professor Barry Smith used scientific methods to pair the flavour components of the different berries and sparkling wines and one of the most successful pairings he found was Sainsbury's Taste the Difference Crémant de Loire (RRP £11) with the Murano strawberry. Now I don't know one strawberry from the other but I can tell you that the crémant is indeed very nice with fizzy shimmers which pop with citrus together with a hint of creaminess.

It's made in the same way as champagne, so that's game set and match to your purse.

INGREDIENTS

Grated zest of 1 lemon
A handful of fresh parsley, chopped
4tbsps extra virgin
olive oil
Freshly ground black pepper, to taste
600g fresh cod fillets, skinless, cut into eight pieces
8 slices of pancetta
For the vegetables:
600g broccoli, cut
into florets
3 carrots, peeled and sliced
1 clove garlic, grated
Knob of butter
Pinch of sea salt
Freshly ground black pepper

METHOD

1. Pre-heat the oven to 220°C/fan 200°C/gas 7 and line a baking tray with greaseproof paper.
2. Mix the lemon zest with the chopped parsley and olive oil and season well with black pepper. Dip each piece of fish in the herby oil.
3. Wrap a slice of pancetta around each piece of fish half a cup of boiling water, just so that it sits at the bottom of the pan but doesn't cover all the vegetables. Also add the knob of butter, the grated garlic and a pinch of sea salt and black pepper.

6. Combine well, put the lid on and steam/boil for eight minutes, checking half way through that there is still water in the bottom of the pan.
7. Drain the veggies, and divide between four plates and serve each plate topped with two pancetta-wrapped fish pieces.

and place them on the prepared baking tray.
4. Bake for 10-12 minutes, or until the fish has turned opaque and is cooked through.
5. Meanwhile, pop the sliced carrots and broccoli florets in a large lidded saucepan. Add

INGREDIENTS

1tbsp extra virgin olive oil
1 onion, diced
2 garlic cloves, crushed
2tbsp chipotle paste
2tbsp tomato purée
1tbsp red wine vinegar
1tbsp smoked paprika
1tbsp runny honey
4 skinless chicken breast portions
Hot, low salt chicken stock
For the crunchy coleslaw:
¼ small white cabbage, sliced
¼ small red cabbage, sliced
2 carrots, shredded
1 red onion, finely sliced
1tbsp mayonnaise
2tbsp Greek yoghurt
Handful parsley, finely chopped
Handful chives, finely chopped
To serve:
4 corn tortillas, warmed

METHOD

1. Using a large non-stick, lidded saucepan, heat the olive oil and fry the onion and garlic for five minutes until soft.

2. Stir in the chipotle paste and tomato purée, red wine vinegar, runny honey and smoked paprika.
3. Add the chicken breasts and pour in enough chicken stock to just cover everything. Pop the lid on and simmer for 40 minutes.

4. Meanwhile, to make the crunchy coleslaw, mix the cabbages, carrot and red onion.
5. Stir in the mayo, yoghurt, chopped parsley and chives and season with freshly ground black pepper. Set aside.
6. After 40 minutes of cooking, lift the chicken out of the pan and using a stick blender, whizz up the sauce until smooth.
7. Simmer uncovered for eight to 10 minutes until nicely thickened.
8. Fill the warmed tortillas with the chicken and coleslaw, wrap up and enjoy.

SAVE MONEY ON FILM FESTIVAL TICKETS!

We are proud to announce the return of the Cambridge extreme B-Movie and short film festival!

Saturday, July 29 – Sunday, July 30 @ the Cambridge Junction, Clifton Way, Cambridge CB1 7GX.

Born from a love of glory cheesy B-movies featuring the funny to the extreme. Their third year brings a balance of the new and old along with a healthy mix of 80's mullet action and splatter gore mayhem!

B-movies have existed all the way through film history from the early silent day's right up to recent times. With films being made for little or no budget the team involved often find creative ways to achieve results, which adds a quality found nowhere else.

A magnificent spectacle

FIRST stop this week is Mark Steel with Andrew Ryan performing a preview of his new Edinburgh Fringe Show. Come and see one of the UK's most popular and long-standing comedians for a bargain ticket price of only £10.50!

Second stop along the track is Barb Jungr, who has wowed audiences and critics worldwide with her powerful reinterpretations of Bob Dylan's work. Known for her passionate singing, minimal and subtle arrangements, and great humour, Barb Jungr is the definitive performer of one of the great musical icons of the 20th century, Bob Dylan, and has received plaudits aplenty including such gems as 'This show is a master-class in cabaret, in singing and in the art of reaching an audience' from

Clam Adelaide and 'Her instrument is shockingly expressive, with an astonishing palette of colours... I just hope that Dylan himself has a listen and starts writing for her direct' from The Observer. Every Grain of Sand is on Saturday, July 15 at 8pm.

Sofia Coppola's La Traviata is a luscious collaboration between the American film-maker and the king of Italian haute couture, Valentino. Together they present this revival of Verdi's opera with this performance filmed during its sell-out run at the Teatro dell'Opera di Roma. See the spectacle on our cinema screen on Monday, July 17 at 7.30pm.

Angels in America (Thursday, July 20 and Thursday, July 27) charts, on an epic scale, tales of New Yorkers grappling with life and death, love and sex, heaven and hell in the midst of the AIDS crisis in Reagan's America. It stars Andrew Garfield, Nathan Lane and Russell Tovey (among others) and has been very well received during its current run at the National Theatre. The broadcast for both performances start at 7pm.

The much-anticipated 2017 Maastricht Concert by Andre Rieu and his 60-piece orchestra will be broadcast on Saturday, July 22 and Sunday, July 23. Enjoy the magnificent sights and sounds at 7pm and 3pm respectively.

Morgan Freeman, Michael Caine and Alan Arkin are a gang of geriatric bank robbers trying to right the world's wrongs in Going in Style (12A). Maybe the exploits of the elderly Hatton Garden mob were the inspiration? Things get more serious on Tuesday, July 18 with The Zoo Keeper's Wife (12A), in which the true story of Antonina and Jan Zabinski is dramatised; they used their Warsaw Zoo as a front to smuggle hundreds of Jews to safety in World War Two. If Whitney Houston is one of your musical heroes then Whitney: Can I Be Me (15) should be a fascinating insight into her private life and her often not-so-private troubles. Directed by celebrated documentary maker Nick Broomfield, find out more about Whitney's demons on Wednesday, July 19 at 7.30pm.

There's been a cast re-boot in Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul (U). In this latest Greg convinces his parents to take a road trip. Oh dear, if you've watched the previous incarnations, you'll know that this road trip is not what it seems, nor is it going to go to plan. See what happens on Monday, July 24 at 2.30pm. Later on Monday, at 7.30pm, we have an adaptation of the Daphne du Maurier novel, My Cousin Rachel (12A). Rachel Weisz plays the eponymous heroine/anti-heroine who may/may not be a vicious killer.

Coming soon, the Arts Centre has some great shows for the summer holidays; Cardboard Carnival by Lempet Puppet Theatre on Tuesday, August 8 at 11am – a playful show with fantastical animal puppets made out of card; Little Red Robin Hood on Thursday, August 17 at 2.30pm and on Friday, August 25 The Hairy Maclary and Friends Show at 1.30pm and 4pm.

Volvo sparks a move to electric power cars

WITHIN three years every new Volvo car will have an electric motor on board.

The announcement brings to an end conventional powertrains used by the Swedish car maker for the past 90 years.

Already Volvo has a number of plug-in hybrids in its line up – notably the XC90 T8 SUV and the Twin Engine V60 estate – which can run purely on electricity.

The new XC60 SUV – due to be released in the next few weeks – will also be available with a plug-in electric option.

According to Volvo – now owned by Chinese auto giant Geely – the announcement represents one of the most significant moves by any car maker to embrace electrification.

"This announcement marks the end of the solely combustion engine-powered car," said Hakan Samuelsson, Volvo's chief executive. "Volvo Cars has stated it plans to have sold a total of a million electrified cars by 2025. When we said it we meant it. This is how we are going to do it."

Speaking in Stockholm at the company's design studio Mr Samuelsson revealed that from 2019 every new model launched by Volvo will use an electric motor in one form or another including fully electric cars, plug-in hybrid cars and mild-hybrid cars.

"This is about the customer," said Mr Samuelsson. "People increasingly demand electrified cars, and we want to respond to our customers' current and future needs. You can now pick and choose whichever electrified Volvo you wish."

The company announced it will launch five fully electric cars between 2019 and 2021, three of which will be Volvo models and two of which will be high-performance electrified cars from Polestar, Volvo Cars' performance car arm.

These five cars will be supplemented by a range of petrol and diesel plug-in hybrid and mild-hybrid 48-volt options on all models meaning that in future there will be no Volvo cars running only on combustion engines.

Full details of these models will be announced at a later date.

The decision follows the recent announcement that Volvo is planning to turn Polestar into a new separately branded electrified global high-performance car company.

GREEN: All Volvos will include an electric motor within three years

VW upgrades popular Caddy van

VOLKSWAGEN'S big-selling Caddy van has been upgraded for the introduction of the 2018 model.

As part of the 2018 Caddy package Volkswagen is also realigning its price structure. As a result, models equipped with the brand's TSI petrol engines now cost less and the Startline 1.2 TSI 84ps model is now priced from £17,527 – £1,017 lower than before.

The new Caddy petrol line up consists of a 1.2-litre 84ps four-cylinder model, a 1.0-litre 102ps three-cylinder and a range-topping 1.4-litre 125ps four-cylinder offered with the option of a seven-speed DSG transmission. Diesel models, available with a 2.0-litre TDI engine in three states of tune, cost from £18,583 including VAT.

Dacia Logan MCV

LOGICAL: The frugal and roomy Dacia Logan MCV

SO you've got less than £11,000 to spend on a car but it needs to be spacious to accommodate the family and have plenty of luggage room for the same reason.

So which used car dealer do you visit for the best deal?

Well if you have any sense you won't bother with any of them, as you can now get a brand new car that meets your criteria and comes with a generous three year, 60,000 mile warranty.

And best of all the car in question is powered by a beefy 1.5-litre diesel engine that will average a phenomenal 80 miles per gallon.

The car that defies financial logic is the new version of the Dacia Logan MCV, a generously sized, five-seater estate car with a boot area so large you could almost sleep in it. Fold the 60/40 split rear seatbacks down and the space jumps from 573 litres to a van-like 1,518 litres.

The clue is in the letters tagged on to the end of the name. MCV stands for Maximum Capacity Vehicle.

Appealing to cost conscious drivers who need something much larger than their budget would normally run to, the Logan is available in three different trim levels with the Ambiance – looked at here – the middle of the range model at £10,895.

And for that you get a car that's not only spacious but comes with air conditioning, DAB radio, electric front windows, stop/start, remote central locking and daylight running lights. In fact all the things that most people would want.

Despite its budget price tag the Logan is well put together and when you get behind the

factfile

Price: £10,895

Transmission: 5-speed manual
Top speed: 107mph
0-62mph: 11.8 seconds
Economy: 80.7mpg
Emissions: 90g/km

wheel you find it's actually rather nice to drive too, with an impressive amount of torque and plenty of power in the lower gears.

There's a five-speed manual gearbox, although fifth is very much an overdrive gear ideal for cruising on the motorway when the rev counter is just hitting 2,000 revs at 70 miles per hour, ensuring relaxed, frugal motoring.

For fast overtaking you need to drop down a cog but when you do the Logan is quick to respond and happy to do so.

Petrol engined models are available - the entry level Logan is priced from just £7,295 - but the 1.5-litre diesel is by far the best performer.

The suspension is a little on the soft side but it handles well even when driven quickly through tight bends and provides a very comfortable ride.

In fact for me there are very few negative points on a car which - since the Romanian company was re-launched by parent company Renault in 2004 - is fast winning fans all over Europe for economy motoring. More than 100,000 Dacias have been sold in the UK since the company launched here in 2013.

OK so on the Logan you have to adjust the side mirrors manually and you always have to use the key to open the boot rather than have a release catch and there is no height adjustment on the driver's seat but apart from these the Logan Ambiance fills most people's requirements.

And it's interesting to note how well Dacia has done in surveys carried out among owners. If they weren't happy they would be the first to shout about it.

Research Assistant (Fixed Term)

£25,298 - £29,301 • MRC Cancer Unit • Ref: SK12629

The MRC Cancer Unit (MRC CU) is a University Department situated on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus. It provides an outstanding environment for cancer research, supporting some 10 research groups and 150 bench scientists. The MRC CU's focus is to conduct world-leading research to understand how cancers develop and seeks to translate this knowledge into new approaches for diagnosis and treatment. The unit is a key participant in the Cambridge Cancer Centre, providing an opportunity to engage in interdisciplinary collaborations with Cambridge colleagues in the biological, physical, chemical and engineering sciences.

A dedicated and enthusiastic Research Assistant is required to join the oesophago-gastric research group at the MRC Cancer Unit at the University of Cambridge which is led by Professor Rebecca Fitzgerald. The group has a clinical perspective and has a number of translational studies and clinical trials ongoing. http://www.mrc-cu.cam.ac.uk/our\_research/Rebecca\_Fitzgerald/index.html

The post-holder will be required to process samples from clinical trials and to support other laboratory personnel. A wide range of techniques will be employed including immunohistochemistry, flow cytometry, PCR, preparation of human tissue samples for sequencing and downstream functional studies on model systems. A solid background in molecular biology is essential.

Fixed-term: The funds for this post are available until 31 March 2019 in the first instance.

Once an offer of employment has been accepted, the successful candidate will be required to undergo a security check.

To apply online for this vacancy and to view further information about the role, please visit: <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/14215>.

Please ensure that you upload a covering letter and CV in the Upload section of the online application. If you upload any additional documents which have not been requested, we will not be able to consider these as part of your application.

Please include details of your referees, including email address and phone number, one of which must be your most recent line manager.

The closing date for applications is the 22nd of July 2017 with interviews yet to be confirmed by the department.

Please quote reference SK12629 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

Senior Animal Technician/Team Leader

Central Cambridge • £21,843-£25,298 • Ref: AQ12632

We are looking to recruit a Senior Animal Technician for a facility based in Central Cambridge.

As a member of a hardworking team you will support the unit's senior management by supervising a team of technicians, within a barrier facility, with the care and welfare of rodents housed in IVCs. You will undertake scientific procedures associated with the production and maintenance of genetically altered rodents, and will support the senior team with the training of new and trainee technicians. You will be required on occasion to assist research staff during surgical procedures.

You will have Home Office Licence modules A - C and hold a Home Office Personal Licence, and completion of Institute of Animal Technology (IAT) Level 2 (desirable). Experience working within a designated establishment with rodents, as well as specific use of IVC's, breeding and maintenance of genetically altered rodents is essential. Additionally, proven supervisory/team leader experience and the ability to use a computerised data management system are also required.

Once an offer of employment has been accepted, the successful candidate will be required to undergo a health assessment and a security check.

Forget it quickly: skipper

ADAM Dellar has told his Haverhill team-mates to put their defeat to Hadleigh behind them quickly as they bid to beat the drop in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

The captain took three late wickets and also saw Callum Brunning (1 for 31) bowl well, but their opponents successfully reached 216 for 8.

Anthony Phillips and Chris Palmer had earlier struck 53 and 38 respectively to get the hosts to 212 for 8.

"This was a disappointing result on the back of two good wins," said Dellar, whose side are second from bottom.

"We could have done with scoring another 30 runs as we were unable to put the Hadleigh batsmen under any pressure.

"We have some big games over the coming weeks and we need to bounce back from this disappointment quickly."

Haverhill II completed the double over Division Three leaders Sudbury II thanks to a 37-run success.

There was a good opening partnership between Steve Fox (57) and Josh Ruthven (32), but that could not be built on and Haverhill had to make do with 168 all out.

However, it proved to be enough as Ruthven and captain Liam Botten took three wickets apiece as the table-toppers were removed for 131.

Knocks of 50 and 27 from Lee Phillips and Thomas Harvey respectively could not prevent Haverhill III losing by 20 runs against Brockley II in 9W.

Their efforts came as Haverhill were removed for 100 after Ben Robinson had taken 3 for 6 in their opponents' 120 for 7.

Double triumph puts Sims on leaders' tail

TRIUMPH: Alexander Sims (left) celebrates with co-driver Bill Auberlen

ALEXANDER Sims secured his second IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship win in as many weeks in the Mobil1 SportsCar Grand Prix held at the Canadian Tire Motorsport Park near Toronto.

West Wratting racer Sims and co-driver Bill Auberlen took their #25 BMW M6 GTLM to victory, leading home a one-two for the German marque and Team RLL, John Edwards and Martin Tomczyk finishing second in the sister BMW.

Auberlen qualified the #25 BMW in second and then took the opening stint of the race, taking the lead on the first lap and holding it before handing over to Sims after an hour of racing.

Sims continued to head the field until a refuelling issue meant he dropped back two places.

However, a close battle developed between the two BMWs and a Porsche as a downpour soaked the track, before

Sims passed both the Porsche and the sister BMW in difficult conditions to take a lead they never relinquished.

"It's been a great couple of weeks for us," said Sims. "We had a really strong run here at CTMP and led almost the entire race. I've got to hand it to Bill for qualifying well and getting a great start off the line, and to the BMW Team RLL who deserve this win after giving us such a fast car."

"After a tricky start to the year we've got some momentum so who knows what we can do for the rest of the season."

"Lime Rock Park is next in two weeks and the track is very similar to this one. I'm looking forward to seeing how we do."

With five races left, Sims' recent success moved him closer to the championship lead. He and Auberlen now have 179 points, just three off leaders Jan Magnussen and Antonio Garcia.

Darken Cup for O'Brien, Russell bags medal

CONOR O'Brien and Darren Russell had reason to celebrate after the men's medal and Cecil Darken Cup match.

O'Brien took home the silverware, his best two scores from the April, May and June medals giving him a sublime cup-winning score of 67+66=133. Gary Webb was next best (65+70=135) and Graham Hepworth third (70+66=136).

Russell came out top in the medal with a superb nett 65, which means his handicap has been trimmed by two.

Results - Division One: 1 Martin Mansfield 80-12-68 on countback from Andrew Underwood 73-5-68, 3 Andrew Cage 79-11-68. Division Two: 1 Darren Russell 82-17-65, 2 Peter Bowers 79-13-66 on countback from Conor O'Brien 81-15-6. Division Three: 1 Andrew Howard 89-21-68, 2 Paul Freeman 91-23-68, 3 Christopher Pollitt 94-24-70.

■ Haverhill junior Louis Martin has won the Suffolk Matchplay Championship.

He took the title at the Diss club, finishing 1 up.

■ Geraldine Wheatley (nett 71) and John Levey (nett 65) took the honours when the men and ladies held a medal day.

Fiona Ives and Linda Alexander were just one adrift of Wheatley with a nett 72, the former taking second on countback.

Men's results. Division One: 1 Andy Fish 71-5-66, 2 James Hastie 80-11-69 on countback from Tim Daniels 78-9-69. Division Two: 1 Dennis White 86-20-66, 2 Patrick O'Sullivan on countback 84-17-67 from Paul Abbott 81-14-67. Division Three: 1 John Levey 86-21-65, 2 Grant Kingston 89-21-68, 3 David Hiscox 96-26-70.

■ Father and son duo Garry and Ellis Kerr took top spot when Andrew Cornish hosted his Captain's Day event, a paired stableford off full handicap for all club members.

An impressive 104 golfers turned out with the Kerrs scoring a superb 63 points to win from Anne Reed and Elaine Ward (52pts) and Mark Barratt (52).

■ Julie Donno won the ladies' section's Saturday Stableford on countback from Anne Reed after both carded 35 points. Kirsty Iron was third on 34 points.

■ The Haverhill club staged an exciting clash between the Suffolk Junior Girls and Bedfordshire. All the games went to the 18th hole but Beds came out on top 2½-½.

And it also hosted the Bullnose Morris Club Summer Rally with more than 30 cars from the 1913-1930 era lined up in the club's car park.

■ The men and women of the seniors section squared off in the Alfa Romeo Shield, an individual matchplay event over 10 holes. It ended in a draw.
